STEP BY STEP ACCIDENT GUIDE

1. WITNESSES

Most people don't realise that your passengers cannot be used as witnesses. So look around. Anyone walking past? Any other drivers pulled over to help who saw what happened? Get their contact information.

2. PHOTOGRAPHS

Essential to the later discussions which will ensue reference liability! Take as many as possible. Even pictures of the damage (or lack of) and registration plates. Also don't forget to get pictures of where all the vehicles are and any road markings.

3. DETAILS

All parties need all the details. By far it is much easier to use an independent accident report form. They are self duplicating so each driver can easily get a copy without having to fill it in twice and contains all the information you will need so nothing gets missed. Even better they do not constitute an admission of liability so no party should have any problems with it.

Independent Accident Report Forms are available FREE just send a sae along with details of which factsheets you want to the address on the website.

Don't get into liability arguments at the roadside! It's not worth it and ultimately it won't make any difference to the outcome.

Don't rely on the police to take all the details. It can take weeks for your insurer to get the information delaying your claim.
